

KDI Global Forum on Development Cooperation Innovation for Development

November 19, 2020 Seoul, Republic of Korea

The Center for International Development (CID) at Korea Development Institute (KDI) is hosting the first KDI Global Forum on Development Cooperation. The Forum aims to foster dialogue among diverse actors to share knowledge and best practices of development cooperation. The Forum on ‘Innovation for Development’ will bring together research results and practices addressing innovation for sustainable growth in developing economies.

The event will be held in an online-offline hybrid format. All audiences can watch it through YouTube livestreaming and raise questions through event website kdicidforum.org. The virtual dialogue and discussion will provide a platform for researchers, practitioners, and businesses of the global society, to discuss the role of innovation as an important driver of sustainable development.
