U What is Social Policy? B

How Social Policy Can Make a Difference?

What is Social Policy?

- Societies responses to social issues and 'wicked' problems.
- Public Policy - all the policies of government.
- Social policy - quality of life issues that affect the overall welfare of citizens.
- Draws on economics, sociology, psychology, geography, history, law, philosophy and political science.

Social Policy Areas

How Social Policy Can Make a Difference

Change -

Can take place at macro level – major upheavals, social conflict, global events (GFC), climate change

Can take micro level – individual, family and community

Can be ‘bottom up’ or ‘top down’

- Social entrepreneurship and social/micro enterprise

What is Social Entrepreneurship?

- Many definitions
- Drawing from a range of authors - emphasis on attributes:
 - Vision – social orientation and social value
 - Proactive - flexibility/finding and utilising opportunities
 - Problem solving/trouble shooting
 - Networking, Engagement and Collaboration
- Overarching Aim: Making a difference

Social Intrapreneurship

Is successful social intrapreneurship possible?

Yes – but attention needs to be paid to:

- Risk adverseness within organisation
- Middle and Senior Management support
- Training and Mentorship

Care Act (2014) England

- ❑ Major piece of legislation affecting adults and communities for 60 years.
- ❑ Consolidation but new features:
 - People's well being and outcomes important to them at the centre of every decision made (Personalisation) - social entrepreneurship and social enterprise
 - Prevention - social entrepreneurship and social enterprise
 - Gives legal right to councils to contract out mainstream social work functions such as assessment, resource allocation and care planning – social entrepreneurship and social enterprise

Opportunities

North East Lincolnshire working across health and social care using a social entrepreneurship model to establish a free standing social enterprise called The Social Work Practice

‘...Being close to and involved in our local communities will be at the heart of what we do. We are working to change the focus of social work away from 1:1 client work to that of ‘community broker’, enabling people to take control themselves, to make full use of the community assets available and to develop new community capacity. This requires flexibility, innovation, fleetness of foot, an entrepreneurial culture and the fostering of partnerships and alliances’.

Opportunities

‘The Care Act (2014) expects councils to develop local markets that are as diverse as their local populations and offer choice to all’ (NEF, 2015)

Examples....

GeTIN2 Dance – contemporary dance course for adults with learning disabilities – funded through Personal Budgets - aims to move people away from dependence on statutory services and meet social care and health needs in a more inclusive way.

Allsorts – co produced project with adults with learning difficulties, focusing on trying new arts activities, meeting people and having fun.

Entelechy Arts - weekly arts programme rethinking social day care for older people. Artists work with older participants to plan and deliver work together. Range of activities – weaving, knitting, circus skills, dance.

Social Entrepreneurship and the Third Sector

- ❑ 'Coalition' government – 'Big Society' (increased role of the third sector).
- ❑ Localism Act 2011 – Community groups able to take over and run local services.
- ❑ Social Value Act 2013 - requires commissioners of public services to consider how the services they commission might improve the economic, social and environmental well-being of the area.
- ❑ Care Act (2014)...

Micro-Enterprise: 'Bottom-Up' Social Entrepreneurship?

- ❑ “...very small local enterprises with five or fewer workers” (Community Catalysts, 2011; 2014).
- ❑ Community based (grassroots) and often run by people who are disabled.
- ❑ Often run from people's own homes – may employ family members.
- ❑ Flexible – delivered on an occasional basis.
- ❑ Unlocks innovation in social care.

Examples of micro-enterprises

- Pulp Friction Smoothie Bar
 - Pedal-powered smoothies

- Creative Paths
 - Creative workshops in residential homes

“Micro-providers are simply local people using their gifts and skills creatively to deliver support and services that benefit other local people and their community... They blur the distinction between service provider and service user – many people delivering micro-services themselves use social care and health services”
(Lockwood, 2013: 27)

Why Microenterprise?

- Employment for disabled and excluded people.
- Enhance social capital within a community.
- More personalised service.
- More responsive and flexible.
- Low overheads and small management (less bureaucracy and waste).

But they face a number of barriers:

- ❑ Limited/uncertain incomes.
- ❑ Limited business skills.
- ❑ 'Under the Radar' - Do not tend to appear on national datasets and Local Authority provider lists.
- ❑ May fall outside of social care regulation.
- ❑ Excluded from public funding – off the radar of commissioners.

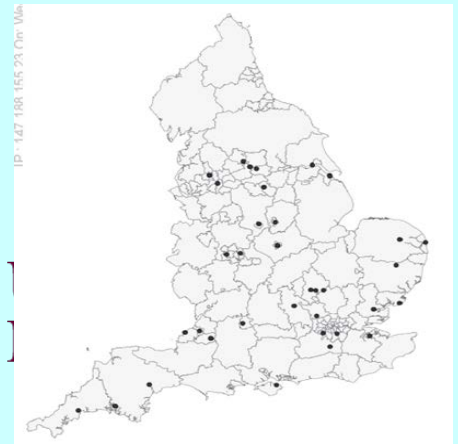

Social Enterprise Spin Outs: 'Top Down' Social Entrepreneurship?

- Government wants to ‘free up the often untapped entrepreneurial and innovative drive of public sector professionals’ (HM Government, 2011, Open Public Services)
- UK Department of Health vow to “create the largest and most vibrant social enterprise sector in the world” (DoH, 2010).
- NHS staff encouraged to “spin out” their service into a social enterprise.

Government Support for English Social Enterprises in Healthcare

- ❑ 'Right to Request' / 'Right to Provide' – Support for health and social care staff to 'spin out' their services into social enterprises.
- ❑ Social Enterprise Investment Fund (SEIF) (2007) - £120 million from Department of Health to support new and established SEs.
- ❑ Right to Request created 40 new social enterprises between 2009 and 2011 delivering community health services in England.
- ❑ Over 22,000 NHS staff have transferred into social enterprises.
- ❑ Numbers of SEs varied by region.
- ❑ Size ranged from 6 to over 2000 staff.

Why Social Enterprise instead of NHS?

- Retain the positive elements of the public sector (NHS values, ethics, morals)
 - Remove the negative elements (NHS bureaucracy, , inefficiency, unresponsiveness)
- = Greater staff engagement, innovation, efficiency, responsiveness.
- = More responsive, higher quality services for patients.

The Challenges

1. Government driven social entrepreneurship – some were pushed...
2. Setting up a social enterprise is expensive, time intensive and needs strong business skills.
3. Reliant on government contracts. What happens if they end?

Summary

- We have demonstrated one area of social policy:
 - Increased role of social entrepreneurship and social enterprise in UK social policy.
 - Government policy and societal responses to health and social care.
- Social policy is a dynamic subject and has ‘real world’ impact.
- Relevance for different international contexts (comparative social policy).

Why the Third Sector?

- Added value (social value)
- More efficient
- Community/service user engagement
- Innovation
- More trustworthy than the private sector!
